NEWS AND GOSSIP.

25 The first Arab newspaper ever published in the Turkish Empire, and out of Constantinople, has been commenced at Beyrout. James Coleman, a negro, was shot by another of his race, Arthur Hall, last Friday night in Baltimore, and will not probably re-

The number of revolutionary pensioners residing within the State of Maine last March was thirteen. Only ten applied for the September instalment of their pensions.

William Preston, convicted in Troy, N. Y., of forgery, in 1858, and sentenced to Clinton Prison for four years and seven months, escaped from that institution last week. A negro named Dickson was his companion.

"Come, don't be proud," said a couple of silly fellows to two gentlemen; "sit down and make yourselves our equals." "We should have to blow our brains out to do that," replied one of them.

"Have you dined?" said a lounger to his friend. "I have, upon my honor," re-plied he. "Then," rejoined the first, "if you have dined upon your honor I fear you have made but a scanty meal."

George N. Baker, a highly esteemed citizen of Philadelphia, died last Saturday morning. Mr. Baker had for a number of years been living in retirement; but there was a time when he was prominent and active in the business and the politics of the city.

Last week the house of J. B. Norman, a Lafayette, Ind., editor, was entered by some rogue or rogues, and robbed of sundry articles, among which were a set of silver table and one of silver teaspoons, two butter knives, a cream ladle, and two gold pens. The young people of Troy, N. Y., have formed a skating club, for winter amusement.

Ladies are admitted upon the proposal of the male members, each of whom constitutes himself instructor, if need be, of the lady proposed. Not a disagreeable amusement. Tordinary paper is so scarce in Madrid,

Spain, that several printing offices have to sus-pend operations, and the journals press the government to allow foreign paper to be imported free, or at least at a greatly reduced duty. A night or two since, the jail in Milan, Missouri, caught fire and was entirely consumed before the progress of the flames could be arrested. A runaway negro was confined in the jail at the time, and was almost suffocated before the turnkey could get him out. AMr. Hiestand has commenced suit in Memphis against the Bulletin, Appeal and Evening Argus, asking $10,000 damages from each for the publication of the records of the Police Court, in regard to his peculiar conduct. Hiestan, who will have his trouble for his pains, is supposed to be insane.

The cranberry fever is up on Cape Cod. The Yarmouth (Mass.) Register men-tions several cases where parties have made from $2,000 to $3,000 from their crops. A piece of bog land that five years ago was not valued at $100, can not now be purchased for $10,000.

ATA night or two since two hundred cords of wood belonging to the Valley Road and stacked near Buck Creek, a few miles above Lafayette, Ind., was destroyed by fire—the work of an incendiary. The track was considerably damaged by the burning of the cross ties.

Mike Carl, an apprentice boy, who had not pleased his employer one day, came in for a chastisement, during which his master exclaimed, "How long will you serve the devil?" The boy replied, "You know best, sir; I believe my indenture will be out in three months."

A new Concord coach, the first stage een at Downieville, California, arrived there few weeks since. The citizens met the stage in a body, escorted it to the center of the town, and wound up the festivities with a ball in the evening.

A very handsome monument has been erected at Montrose to the memory of the late Joseph Hume, M. P. The statue is by Marshall, the Sculptor, and is spoken of as very superior, as a likeness and as a work of art. It was inaugurated on the 24th of September, with appropriate ceremonies. A late Utah City paper mentions the arrival of a company of European saints, who went thither in fifty-six wagons, and numbered about four hundred souls, mostly from Scandinavia. There were six deaths and three births on their journey of three months through the country.

A Mr. Westfield, of Aberville, in South Carolina, has invented a mode of attaching an umbrella to a saddle, which will conduce much to the comfort of the equestrian. The um-brella is inserted in the horn of the saddle, and is so easily and securely attached that, while it is almost impossible to displace it by force, it can be readily removed or adjusted at pleasure.

Timothy Titcomb says, with some degree of truth: I suppose that one of the severest trials of a sordid man is that which is caused by the disgust he feels in the society of his own soul. I once heard a preacher re-mark that were it not for the interposition of sleep, by which all men are separated once in twenty-four hours from the consciousness of their own meaness, they would all die of self-

St. Louis Thenter we find in Monday's Democrat:—Mr. Murdoch appears to-night in two of his best characters—as "Mr. Haller," in the play of the Stranger, and as "Dick Dashall" in the comedy of Mg Aunt. Mucheth was given to a full house on Saturday night. Mr. Mills played "Macdoff," and, after yielding to a hearty cry to come before the curtain, was hissed off the stage.

Attempt to Mob Wendell Phillips. A correspondent of the New York Tribune, writing from Port Richmond, Staten Island, on the 5th, says:

There was an attempt to create a disturb ance here last evening, upon the occasion of a lecture by Wendell Phillips. An incendiary article appeared last week in the Richmond County Gazette directly inciting a mob, and to that article the trouble is to be attributed.

The apprehension of trouble deterred great numbers of people from attending, who were very anxious to hear Mr. Phillips, and, upon his arrival at the church, a crowd was assem-

During the evening a few window-panes were broken by the boys outside, who also groaned, and played a penny trumpet. Upon retiring, a dense crowd surrounded the orator, and when he had fairly driven off out of sight, there were a few cries of "Pull him out!"

A RIOT THREATENED AT THE OLD BOWERY THEATER.—Monday's New York Tribane observes: The Old Bowery Theater bills of Saturday contained the following announcement: "For the first time, a peculiarity, including a grand tableau illustrative of the life and death of the Hon. D. C. Broderick, ontitled 'Three Francis the Life of a Firstentitled 'Three Eras in the Life of a Fireman." This announcement displeased some of the friends of the late Mr. Broderick, and several of them on Saturday waited on the managers of them on Saturday waited on the managers of the theater with a request to have the piece withdrawn, but failing in this, they withdrew. Later in the day Capt. Dowling, of the Sixth Precinct, received positive information that the friends of the deceased gentleman, at all hazards, would prevent the play. Information was forwarded to Police Headquarters, and a reserve force was ordered to hold themselves in readiness at the Sixth, Fourteenth, and other precincts. Capt. Dowling then called upon the managers of the theater, and informed them of the probable result, should they persist in bringing out the piece, and they finally consented to withdraw it. At night the theater was densely crowded from pit to gallery, and even in the lobbies; but other pieces were sub-stituted, and everything passed off in an orderly manner.

JOHN BROWN'S FATE SEALED .- Researches into the obscure portion of Virginia law which relates to the crime of treason, have brought to light the fact that the pardoning power in the cases of John Brown and of Coppece, resides not in the Governor, but in the Legislature. As the Legislature only meets in the carlier for brief of the contract of the carrier of fort-night of January, as Brown's sentence is to be executed on the 2d of December, and as there is no likelihood of an extra session being summoned, the fate of the leading insurrection ist may be regarded as sealed. A correspondent of the Boston Traveller, who was in Charlestown last week, assures us that Brown is entirely reconciled to that fearful result. We give another installment of documents pertain-ing to the history of the rebellion. The Boston Altas and Bee publishes a letter written by Brown to a Quakeress in Rhode Island, from whom he had received a sympathizing letter. Brown attributes his defeat to a want of military skill and foresight, but insists that he took up arms in a righteous cause, and expresses his firm conviction that his motives were just. N. Y. Times, Nov. 7.

A LARGE REWARD OFFERED FOR GIDDINGS'S HEAD .- The following remarkable advertisement appears in the Richmond (Va.) Whig:

$10,000 REWARD .- Joshua R. Giddings havng openly declared himself a traitor lecture at Philadelphia, on the 28th of October, and there being no process, strange to say, by which he can be brought to justice, I propose to be one of one hundred to raise $10,000 for his safe delivery in Richmond, or $5,000 for the production of his head. I do not regard this proposition, extraordinary as it may first seem, either unjust or unmerciful. The law of God and the Constitution of his country both condemn him to death.

For satisfactory reasons I withhold my name from the public, but it is in hands of the editor of the Richmond Whig. There will be no difficulty I am sure in raising the $10,000 upon a reasonable prospect of getting the said Gid-dings to this city.

HOUING CENSUS OF THE WORLD .- The fellowing curious account is given in Appleton's Cyclopaedia, of the number of horses in the rarious parts of the world:

The general estimate has been eight to ten horses in Europe for every hundred inhab-itants. Denmark has forty-five horses to every hundred inhabitants, which is more than any other European country. Great Britain and Ireland have 2,500,000 horses; France, 3,000,-000; Austrian Empire, exclusive of Italy, 2,600,000; Russia, 3,500,000. The United States have 5,000,000, which is more than any European country. The horses of the whole world are estimated at 57,540,000.

A KISSING KING .- One of the letters of Arthur Lee, who was in London at the time of the ascension of George III, says:

The young King has committed but one error. Instead of permitting the ladies present to kiss his hand, he salutes them himerror. self. Pleased with the royal touch, they flock in such numbers to his court that he is like to suffer for his gallantry in being kissed to death. An effectual way this to win the hearts of the ladies, and, consequently, of the men, for who can help loving such a polite, genteel, geod-natured young King.

Oil Works Consumed.— The Resin Oil Works, at Stamford, Conn., owned by Messrs. Wadsworth, were destroyed by fire on Wednesday night, with their contents, including 3,000 gallons of oil. The immediate cause of the fire was the blowing off of the cover of the "man-hole" in one of the retorts or stills. In an instant after the explosion the whole interior of the building was a mass of flames and smoke. Several thousand gallons of oil, in vaults, were saved. Loss, $8,000—no in-

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT .- An accident occurred at Newsom's plantation, fourteen miles below Tuscumbia, on the Memphis and charleston Railroad, on Friday last, by which the chief engineer, William Collon, was in-stantly killed, and the second engineer and a fireman so badly scalded and otherwise mutilated that they were expected to die when our informant left. The accident was caused by running into a bull which was on the track .- Nashville Gazette, Sunday.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT-A LOCOMOTIVE DEMOLished.—The evening express, South, on the Louisville, New Albany and Chicago Rail-road, leaving Lafayette, Ind., at six P. M., came in collision on Friday night with three car loads of stone standing on a side track below Stinesville. The engineer and fireman jumped for their lives, and the passengers were thrown all in a heap, but escaped without a scratch. The locomotive, one of the best on the road, was completely demolished.

A Tough Story About a Bear.

Mr. Charles Dickey, of Dickeyville, writes us about a bear chase that took place in the town of Paris, Grant County, Wisconsin, on the 30th ult. The bear was started by Thomas Longbotham, and followed by him and Wm. Eavet, one with a butcher-knife and the other Eavet, one with a butcher-knife and the other with a pitch-fork, but the bear paid little attention to them, and circled around and was about to pick up a small hog of Mr. Longbotham's, which he could not stand. He halloed for his shot-gun, and the bear being an 'old coon' was afraid of powder and took another course. The neighbors had raillied by this time and among them was Mr. Phillipping and was a standard and the properties are the properties and the properties and the properties are the properties and the properties and the properties and the properties are the properties are the properties and the properties are the properties are the properties and the properties are the propert this time, and among them was Mr. Phillip Shaffer, who is an old hand with his gun and penknife. The bear smelt Shaffer and con-cluded to travel. Shaffer followed with the wind, and being a robust and fleet man, soon left all the rest behind. He caught up with the bear, made a jump. and lighted a-straddle of his back! Having lost his gun, he bethought him of his penknife, and with this he pricked the bear in his neck and flank to keep him straight to Silas Brook's grove, where the bear climbed a tree with Shaffer on his back. The bear coming to a fork of the tree, crowded Mr. Shaffer of, who slid down like a turtle and ran back for his gun. Returning, he killed him at the first fire. The above is rather a marvellous narration, but Mr. Dickey, who is postmaster at Dickeyville, assures us it is posi-tively true in all its particulars.—Galena SINGULAR AFFLICTION.—The eldest daughter of Mr. Anson A. Buck, of New Haven, Conn., is afflicted with a peculiar species of fits, which have for a year past attacked her at short intervals. When taken, she is at first simply insane, in which state she wan-ders away from home, sometimes to a consid-erable distance; the fits always terminating in severe convulsions. On Thursday last she went down town on an errand, and being seized with one of her crazy turns, took the afternoon train for Hartford, leaving her family in a state of doubt and distress. She was taken with convulsions in the cars, and was put in the care of the station-agent at North Haven. On Friday it was ascertained who she was, and on Saturday morning last she was returned to her afflicted parents.

A VISIT TO "OSSAWATOMIE" BROWN'S FAMILY. Roy. T. W. Higginson, of this city, has just returned from a visit to the family of Capt. John Brown. He found them up among the Adirondac Mountains, in New York, near Lake Champlain, opposite Burlington, Vt.— Mrs. Brown and four of her surviving children, three daughters and one son. She is a second wife, and has been the mother of twelve chilwite, and has been the mother of twelve chil-dren. Brown had eight children by a previous wife, making twenty in all. Eight of the twenty are now living. Mrs. Brown accom-panied Mr. Higginson, on his return, and he went with her in the train to Boston, yesterday, passing through Fitchburg. She will leave to day for Virginia, having telegraphed to Gov. Wise for permission to visit her husband in prison .- Worcester (Mass.) Spy, Nov. 4.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE FROM DEATH .- A WORKman in Roxbury, Mass., last week, after having been in a well for some time, cleaning the sides. When he had climbed about three or four feet the walls gave way, and he was precipitated to the bottom, and the whole mass of rocks caved in on him to within a foot or two of the top. Some six or eight men immediately set to work clearing out the stones and dirt, and, after nine hour's steady work, during which the voice of the buried man could be head emploring them to hasten their endeavors, he was reached, and delivered alive. With the exception of a few bruises, he was uninjured, the stones having fallen in such a manner as not to rest upon him.

DEATHOR AN AGED MINISTER. - Roy, Edward Stout, the oldest member of the New Jersey Conference of the M. E. Church Annual departed this life at his residence in Haddon-field, on the 3d inst. Though extremely feeble for several years past, yet for the last few days he had seemed somewhat stronger and more cheerful, so that on the morning of the day he died, he walked nearly a mile, and conversed freely with his friends. He sat down with his family at the usual time to dine, when he was suddenly attacked with paralysis, and immediately died without a struggle or a groan. He was in his seventy-fourth year, and had been in the ministry

AN AUTHOR'S CONNUBIAL DISPOSAL OF HIS AN AUTHOR'S CONNULLAL DISPOSAL OF HIS DAUGHTER.—An sneedete relative to the late Prof. Wilson, (Kit North,) is just now circulating. When the suitor for the hand of Prof. Wilson's daughter had gained the lady's approbation, he was, of course, referred to papa. Having stated his probably not unexpected case, the younger gentleman was directed to desire the young lady to come to her father, and doubtless her obedience was prompt. Prof. Wilson had before him for review, some work, on the fix less of for review, some work, on the fly leaf of which was duly inscribed: "With the au-thor's compliments." He tore this out, pinned it to his daughter's dress, solemnly led her to the young lover, and went back to

A SINGULAR ANIMAL FOUND IN A CELLAR. animal known as the South American Coatimundi, has been found in a cellar of an occupied house in Salem, Mass. How he came there no one knows. It is a beautiful specimen of the species—is of a brown color, and smaller than, but resembling, a raccoon; its upper jaw is much longer than the lower, a long pointed snout; the eyes are small and bright, its tail long and diversified with black fulvous rings, and its feet long, terminating with five claws, which it uses with the facility of fingers. It is very playful, and is a source of much amusement to those who see it, being lively as a kitten and mischievous

SINGULAR CASE IN A SAN FRANCISCO COURT .-Singular case occurred in a San Francisco Court.—
A singular case occurred in a San Francisco Court the other day. A jury were to return a verdict; but it appears one of the jurors, Julius Levy, was absent. He was sent for and found at a Jewish Synagogue; but on being asked to come into Court, refused on the ground that it was the Day of Atonement, the most important in his religion, and he could not conscientiously allow any business to innot conscientiously allow any business to in-terfere with it. The Court fined him $25 for GOLD IN NEW ZEALAND .- Recent examins tions into the mineral resources of New Zeal-and, by Dr. Hochstetter, who has been enand, by Dr. Hoonstetter, who has been engaged in geological explorations in that country, confirms the report that there exists a great quantity of gold in different localities. Examinations were made by washing the alluvial deposits, and in every panful washed the gold scales abounded. In his opinion the research should be carefully presecuted among the quarts veins of the mountains rather than by digging in the deposits below.

A student of the University of Virginia, writing from that Institution, states that the marble slab that formerly marked the resting place of Jefferson has entirely disappeared. The visitors to his temb, by chipping off fragments, to be carried away as mementoes, have completely demolished it, and an uncouth granite pedestal, greatly disfigured, is all that remains to mark the grave of the author of the Declaration of In-

A Pseudo Saint-Ridiculous Fanaticism.

The Paris correspondent of the London Star reports the following interesting intelligences "The death of the Care d'Ars at Lyons has caused the whole devout population of the rest of the Empire to hurry in crowds to his tomb. The Abbe Lacordaire, who has remained with him for several months, was with him at his dying hour, and promises the most wondrous revelations concerning the passage from life to death of the Saint, whose canonication alreads death of the Saint, whose canonization already occupies the authorities of the Church. The miracles already wrought at the tomb of the Cure d'Ars exceed, if any one may believe the tale, both in quantity and quality those once enacted at the grave of the Diacre Paris. The blind are made to see, the lame to walk, and every human ill is set at naught by a prayer at the stone which covers the remains of the Cure d'Ars. The Empress, who personally declared the birth of the Prince Imperial to be owing to this holy man's intercession, is said to have been in close correspondence with him during the whole of the war. To show the fanaticism inspired by the event of his death, the omnibus service from Lyons to the village where he lived, and which was started to drive straight to his door, has been doubled since his death, and drives nowhere but to the cemeter where his corpse reposes. A nine days' virgit is established for the different conference is established for the different confreres transmission of miracles for the convenience of those who cannot make the journey to

HOW WOMEN REGARD A NUDE PICTURE. -- A writer in the New York Saturday Press thus speaks of the manner of the women who visit the Dusseldorf Gallery to see Page's Views:

I was much amused by the behavior of the ladies with whom the Dusseldorf Gallery was crowded on the occasion of my visit. Of course they did not go there to see the Venus! Probably it was the picture of "Diana and her Nymphs," that attracted them all; else why hympus, that attracted them all; else why should they have been crowded around it? I will not be so malicious as to draw conclusions from the fact that they admired that picture through the backs of their heads, and that it was placed exactly opposite the Venus.

I watched the ladies, too, as they entered.

The younger ones gave it a furtive, not indignant glance over their shoulders, as they passed. The good-natured matterns trusted themselves to look at it with one eye, while others did nearner for looking at it by gazine. others did penance for looking at it by gazing, others did penance for looking at it by gazing, afterward, on some strictly religious picture. But your severe, antique maidens, whose age and Spartan virtue might have been supposed to put them beyond the danger of corrupting thoughts, glared at the opposite side of the room, with that slaughtering look in their eyes that convinced me that they would have gladly undertaken to stone Page with their own hands, for the unpardonable sin of suggesting that a woman may be young, handsome, and that a woman may be young, handsome, and seductive.

PROFESSOR LOWE'S MANMOTH BALLOON IN NEW YORK.—The inflation of Professor Lowe's balloon, the "City of New York," still continues. The grounds, at New York, were visited on Thursday by about four thousand spectators, and on yesterday by nearly five thousand. About eighty thousand cubic fest of gas have been already admitted. The car or basket is now carpeted and surrounded with a wall of cauvass, presenting on the whole a very snug and comfortable appearance. A Broadway hatter has presented Professor Lowe with a splendid outst of furs, consisting of a robe, coat and gloves, all of which are on exhibition within the tent. There are, besides, blankets, fur-covered boots, &c., for the use of the aeronauts. The United States Government have presented, through Lieutenant Maury, one aneroid and one mercurial barom-eter, as well as charts of the Alantic Ocean. The grounds were througed all the day Friday by visitors apparently belonging to the upper ranks of life.

ROMANTIC STORY OF A LORETTE.-A Spring field paper tells a romantic story of a court esan in that city: She is the daughter of a Professor of Theology in Ohio. Four years ago she was a belle in her native city— courted and admired, and hence vain and courted and admired, and hence vain and proud. A young man, a carpenter, now of this city, made honorable proposals of marriage, but was haughtily spurned. A merchant became her accepted lover—the wedding day was appointed—and the night before that one on which she expected to become his bride, and while her father was attacked. tending a meeting to raise funds for an Atrican missionary enterprise, she was seduced by her lover. Next day he clandestinely left the city, having made an assignment. Her father, when the fruit of her shame was blossoming, absolutely kicked her from his door. A compassionate woman took her in-nursed her-her child lived four days-and she became, per force, a prostitute.

GROWTH OF THE UNITED STATES .- At the taking of the first census under the Federal Constitution, in 1790, the population of the United States amounted to 3,929,827. At intervals of ten years the census has been taken regularly, and the result at each period is as follows:

The census will again be taken in 1860, and will show a population within the limits of the United States of more than 32,000,000.

THE KRMBLE VASE .- This splendid work THE KRMBLE VASE.—This splendid work of art, presented to Charles Kemble by his friends, in London, on his retirement from the stage in 1839, has recently been brought to this country by his daughter, Fanny Kemble, and placed in the store of Messrs. Shreve, Brown & Co., for safe-keeping and inspection. It is a massive and imposing work, standing thirty-eight inches in hight, of pure solid silver, costing upwards of $2,000. The base is square, bearing the presentation inscription. The body gives in alto-relievo the "Seven Ages," finished in frost work; on the cover stands a statuctic of Mr. Kemble as Hamlet.—Beston Transcript.

THE INNERSE SLAUGHTER AT SOLFERING .-Three days after the battle of Solferino the Emperor Napoleon stated the loss of the French army at 15,000 men, and his Italian allies at 5,000; total Allies loss 21,000. Considering that the battle lasted sixteen hours, and was fought over a front of more than ten miles, this number of casualties has always seemed incredibly small. The Austrians placed their loss at 24,000. Intelligent correspondents have stated their belief that the allied loss reached 40,000, at least, and that of the Austrians 50,000, and that the number of men engaged on each side was fully 200,000.
